

MERCY RESCUE TRUST UPDATE

Hi Everyone

Been a very busy week. On Monday all staff were invited to a what was termed a staff gathering . Bringing all staff together for some social time together, because of the way they now work. It's was a great day, with a lunch of meat stew, greens and ugali which is part of the staple diet. (a heavy dough, made from maize flour cooked in boiling water. Not my favourite food .) Followed by cake and soda. They spent the afternoon just chatting and and catching up.

Tuesday we took a set of bunk beds to the home of Filda's grandparents with the intention of putting them up, the extension that was to be built hadn't been completed. We were assured it would be by Wednesday the day Filda and her sisters arrived home for the Easter Holidays. When we met with Filda and her sisters on Wednesday they said they'd see pictures and they were putting the doors on. So hopefully they had a good nights sleep in their new beds.

As well as meeting with Filda and her sisters at Megabytes, we were joined by Clinton and Lynne who also had just finished school for Easter. It was really great to see them all so grown up. We had a lovely time together, discussing what they would need for the new school year in April and their end of year exam results. They had all done really well, with the exception of Filda who is really struggling, not just in school but in her personal life also, please keep her in your prayers. They enjoyed sausage and chips with soda, before leaving to continue their journeys home.

Thursday was shopping day, buying in bulk the supplies needed to take to the staff looking after babies in their homes. Washing powder, bar soap, nappies etc.

Friday was another busy day, making up parcels to take to the staff With Jedidah driving and me and Sally aboard we delivered 7 of 9 parcels, the other 2 to be collected later that day.

On return to the centre mid-afternoon Irene a member of staff had arrived, to take Samuel one of the new babies back to her home until a forever family is found for him.

Just after Irene had left the forever family to be arrived to take Nathan home with them. It was really great to see the bond that had already begun to be formed through previous visits by them. As well as the joys of the day, two babies had to be admitted to hospital due to having a sickness and diarrhoea virus, please pray for a full and quick recovery.

Thank you for your continuing prayers and support.

Take care

God Bless
